CLASH IN LEAGUE FIGHT APPROACHES

President is Expected to Refuse Confidential Data on Deliberations of Peace Body

A RESOLUTION ASKS FOR IT

Correspondence Discloses Allies Pledged Themselves to Help Japan Dismember China

(By United Press)

Washington, July 15.—The senate fight over the league of nations and the peace treaty increased in bitterness today and was hotly waged.

Senator Norris attacked the shanty settlement feature of the treaty. Senator Underwood came out flatly in support of the league.

A direct clash between President Wilson and the senate is rapidly approaching, in the opinion of many senators. They expect this clash to come over the question of giving the senate a record of the secret deliberations of the peace conference.

Developments include:

Passage by the foreign relations committee of the Johnson resolution requesting information on all confidential data regarding the league of nations debate and negotiations in Paris.

Disclosure to the senate by Senator Norris of correspondence between Japan and the allies pledging the latter aid in the dismembering of China.

It is virtually announced that President Wilson is unwilling to submit to examination by the foreign relations committee in the senate and that if the committee wishes to question him, they must call at the White House.

Though Johnson's resolution passed unanimously, democrats stated that they expected President Wilson to decline to give the committee the mass of reports of debates, copies of the league of nations, draft report and arguments which it called for. Impossibility of complying with the request, senators predicted, will be the president's ground for refusal.

Forseeing complete victory for President Wilson in the senate, some of the league opponents were discussing plans to make withdrawal from the league by the United

TAYLOR AND MILLER TO BE TRIED FRIDAY

Rushville Men Will Answer to Charges of Larceny and Violations of Liquor Laws.

BOTH IN SHELBYVILLE JAIL

The case of Chester Taylor and Sylvia Miller of this city will be tried Friday at Shelbyville, before Judge Blair. Both Miller and Taylor are still in the Shelby county jail, as they were unable to give the $1,500 bond. They will be arraigned on two charges, that of larceny and having an illegal amount of liquor in their possession.

Sheriff Jones was busy yesterday summoning witnesses here, who will testify for the state. It was expected that there would be about a dozen witnesses called from here, and several people will make the trip to Shelbyville in order to hear the case. Just who will represent the Rushville boys in legal matters is not known. It was stated in a Shelbyville paper last week that Donald Smith of this city would represent them, but Mr. Smith is now on a vacation with his family in Maine.

TRADE RESTRICTIONS WITH GERMANY LIFTED

War Trade Section of State Department Issues Blanket Licenses Permitting Business

THREE EXCEPTIONS ARE MADE

(By United Press)

Washington, July 15.—Practically all restrictions of trade with Germany were lifted today by American exporters for the first time in two years.

In an order effective today the war trade section of the state department issued a blanket license permitting communication and trade with Germany under the trade with the enemy act in all lines but dye stuff, chemicals and potash.

Exports have been forbidden for months on account of the ban on trade with Germany.

This order does not mean individual licenses but it exists under the same conditions as they did before the war—by filing declarations with the custom collector at the board of exit from the United States.

JUDGE SPARKS ORDERS SPECIAL PANEL OF 50

Announces He Will Excuse From Jury Service in Haag Case Farmers Who Are Busy With Crops

CONTINUANCE NOT DESIRED

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15.—With a second special panel of veniremen in the criminal court room, efforts were resumed today to obtain a jury for the trial of Louis E. Haag and Julius A. Haag on the charge of operating a "blind tiger." The usual procedure of sending the sheriff and his deputies to summon "pick-up" veniremen on the streets after a special panel had been exhausted, was not followed when the last man of the original panel of sixty had been called Monday afternoon. Attorneys for the defense objected to this method, and demanded the drawing of a second special venire in the regular way.

The prosecutor invited the attention of Judge Will M. Sparks, special judge at the trial, to the alleged irregularities in the filling of the county jury box with more than 300 additional names shortly before the beginning of the second trial of the Haags on the charge of perjury, despite the fact that more than 600 names already were in the box. He explained that the box since had been emptied and refilled in the proper manner.

Judge Sparks said he would continue to follow the policy of excusing from jury service all farmers whose wheat and oats crops required their immediate attention. He said he was willing to stop the selection of the jury and continue the trial until September. Attorneys

ARLINGTON LADY IS CAUSE OF SUIT

Mrs. Cora B. Woods Says Her Husband is Infatuated with Stella Balbridge

FILES DIVORCE COMPLAINT

Asks That Husband be Restrained From Coming Near Her or Their 3-Year-Old Child.

The eternal triangle crept into the divorce complaint filed yesterday afternoon by Cora B. Woods against Joseph N. Woods. According to the complaint which was filed by John A. Titworth, they were married October 5th, 1912 and separated July 14, this year.

There was one child born, James L. Woods, aged 3, and Mrs. Woods is asking for $500 alimony, with $10 a week for support money of herself and child, during the pendency of the case, and a reasonable amount for the support of the child after divorce.

Mrs. Woods alleges in the complaint that her husband has become infatuated with a married woman named Stella Balbridge of Arlington and has made public his intentions to her and talked about his affections, and has been cold and indifferent towards the plaintiff.

She also states in the complaint that her husband is a man of violent temper and when things did not go to suit him, he flew into violent rage and cursed her and called her many vile names. She further says that he is a motorman and conductor on the I. & C. traction line and capable of making good wages, but has allowed her only money with which to buy common, every day necessities.

Mrs. Woods also asks the court for a restraining order to keep him from calling at her residence, 409 North Harrison street. John A. Titworth represents Mrs. Woods.

GENERAL PERSHING AND STAFF IN LONDON

American Commander Accorded a Royal Welcome Upon His Arrival at British Capital Today

INSPECTS GUARD OF HONOR

(By United Press)

London, July 15.—General Pershing and his staff arrived here from Dover at 12:38 p. m. today for the peace celebration.

Dense crowds flocked the Victoria station when the special train carrying General Pershing arrived. The guard of honor composed of Welsh Guards, General Fielding, War Minister Lord Churchill, representatives of Field Marshal Haig and chief of general staff formed parts of the British welcoming contingent.

Practically all of the American colonies joined in the greeting.

As Pershing's train pulled into the Royal platform, silken colors dipped and the bands played the Star Spangled Banner.

After Churchill had shaken hands with the American commander a number of presentations followed. Pershing inspected the guard of honor and was then conveyed to the Carlton hotel where the American officers will make their headquarters.

R. F. CONOVER IS DEAD AT MARION

Former Rushville Man Expires at the Age of Eighty Years of Hardening of Arteries

FUNERAL TO BE WEDNESDAY

Served With Distinction During Civil War—Local Veterans Say He Was a Good Soldier

Robert F. Conover, Sr., age eighty years, veteran of the civil war and former Rushville man, died at his home in Marion, Ind., yesterday, of hardening of the arteries, after a prolonged illness, and the funeral services will be held at the national military home at Marion tomorrow afternoon, with burial in the home cemetery.

His death had been expected for several days and several of his children were at his bedside when the end came. Robert Conover, Jr., of this city, had been with his father for more than a week preceding his death.

Mr. Conover taught school in Rush county after the war ended and was twice elected county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Conover was born at Jenner's Crossing, Pa., in 1839. He went to Greensburg, Ind., with his family when 3 years old, and lived there until 1856. In that year he was married to Mary E. S. Campbell, daughter of Elder George A. Campbell, a pioneer minister of the Christian church, and went to Rushville to reside, later going to Illinois, Oklahoma and South Dakota. In the last year he went to Marion to reside.

Mr. Conover in 1861 enlisted in the 7th Indiana regiment and was in the West Virginia campaign. He was next in the service in Kentucky, being a captain, where he organized and drilled troops. Then served to the end of the war with 134th Infantry, with the rank of first lieutenant. He was a member of the G. A. R. of which the commander-in-chief honored him with the title of major.

Commenting on the death of Mr. Conover today, Dan Kinney, civil war veteran and close friend of the deceased, said that Mr. Conover

NAVY MEN SEEKING 2-YEAR ENLISTMENTS

First Time in History Men Have Been Accepted For Less Than 4 Years—War Time Pay

2 NAVAL MEN AT POSTOFFICE

A navy recruiting party arrived in Rushville yesterday evening and will be here three days recruiting men under the new two-year enlistment plan to build up the three American fleets, the Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic, which have recently been formed.

Word was received at navy headquarters in Indianapolis yesterday afternoon to start recruiting parties over the state and at three o'clock Chief Quartermaster H. Morgan and Boatsman J. C. Morely were on the way here on a motorcycle. They will be at the postoffice from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day to explain the new term of enlistment.

This is the first time within the history of the navy that it has been possible to enlist in the navy for less than four years. Enlistments during the war were for duration of the war only, and as these men are now leaving the service the navy has offered special inducements to get 241,000, the number necessary for the three fleets. The pay will be the same as that during the war.

GOBBLER "MOTHERS" ANEST OF GOOSE EGGS

J. Hooker Wilson Has Gentleman Turkey Which Equals His Famous Hen, "Prudence"

HE CAN'T BE DRIVEN OFF

Last fall, when J. Hooker Wilson wanted an egg for his supper, he'd just go out and open the back door of his house, and Prudence, his favorite old hen, would walk in, hop upon a chair in the kitchen and presto, there'd be a nice, honest-to-goodness egg, lying right there in the chair. What's more, Prudence wouldn't lay an egg any place else but in that chair.

But now comes a gentleman turkey, Chauncey, who is "mothering" eleven goose eggs. Yes, sir, this turkey is setting on those eggs, and if you don't believe it, go up to J. Hooker's corn crib and try to drive him off. In a few days Chauncey is going to be mother of some very cute little goslings, and when the neighbors hear the gobbler gobbling, then it's time to pay them a visit.

No one openly sponsored the proposal. Those who favored it will be ready to announce it the moment it receives party support.

It was pointed out that two years would be given for actual withdrawal and the issue in the election will be given as a notice of this country's intention to withdraw, which would become effective in 1923.

By that time the United States would have done all in her power toward stabilizing Europe in resuming her magnificient policy.

A marriage license was issued this morning to Miss Fanny Bradburn and John Clevidence, both of Carthage.

TRACTOR PLOWING
HAS OWN PROBLEM

Necessary to Lay Out Fields so as to Eliminate Waste of Time or Labor

TWO METHODS TO BE USED

A Little Extra Time Taken in Measuring Necessary Distances Will Save Time

Washington, July 15.—Plowing with tractors presents some problems that never bother the man who uses horse-drawn implements. It is necessary to lay out fields, so that a high-class job of plowing can be done over the entire area with the minimum use of a horse-drawn plow in starting and finishing the work, says Farmers' Bulletin 1045, recently published by the United States Department of Agriculture, which gives in detail some of the best methods for laying out land and plowing with tractors. The methods in general use are divided into two classes in the bulletin—those in which the plows are elevated and no plowing is done across the ends, and those in which the plows are left in the ground continuously. In most cases better plowing can be done when the plows are idle across the ends of the field, and for this reason the methods of this class are more popular, but many farmers prefer the other methods, as they eliminate waste of time and labor.

Plowmen using tractors wish to reduce to a minimum the time spent in running and in turning with the plows out of the ground. While it is necessary to do some traveling while the plows are idle, care should be taken not to do too much of it, as it reduces the number of acres which can be plowed in a day, making the tractor that much less efficient. Short turns, however, are awkward for most tractors and where such turns are necessary the operator often has more or less difficulty in getting the outfit in the correct position for starting into the new furrow at the right point. Some tractors turn more easily in one direction than others, and this should be taken into consideration in laying out the fields.

The advantages of plowing by the methods in which the plows are idle across the ends of the field are that the short, awkward turns are eliminated, except in some cases at the beginnings and ends of the lands, and usually less space will be left at the corners to be plowed with horses. The advantages of the other methods are that little or no time is lost in traveling with the plows out of the ground, and that ordinarily the number of dead furrows and back furrows will be considerably less.

In using the first-named methods it is necessary to measure the lands in the center of the field accurately, leaving an equal area on all sides of the field in which to turn the outfit, and which can be plowed last by running the tractor completely around the field several times. If one end of the field is unfenced the outfit can be pulled out into a road or lane, or an adjoining field for turning. It may be preferable to plow up to the fence on the two sides as the body of the field is being plowed, and leave the headland only across the end of the field which is fenced. The width of the headland will depend largely on the turning radius of the tractor. With easily handled outfits it is not necessary to leave more than 15 or 20 feet, but plenty of room should always be left, and for this reason headlands 50 feet or more in width are preferable to narrower ones.

If the field is too finished up in the best manner, with no irregular, unplowed strips between the land or at the edges, it is essential that care be taken to have the headland of the same width around the field, to have the distance measured exactly when starting new lands, and to have the first furrows as nearly straight as possible. A little extra time taken in measuring off the necessary distances and setting plenty of stakes for guidance will nearly always be more than returned in saving time at the finish. If the tractor pulls three or more plows, cutting a total width of three or more feet, some effort should be made to have the width of the headlands an exact multiple of the total width of the plow, so that the last strip across the field will exactly run out the land or finish it to the fence. This will do away with the necessity of making a trip across the field, probably over the plowed ground, to turn a narrow strip which has been left unplowed.

When methods are used in which the plow is left in the ground continuously the outfit is started in the center of the field. For the first three or four rounds the plows are lifted at the ends of the furrows, and then they are left in the ground when the turns are made. The outfit is then run around the field until the entire area has been plowed, and if the field has been measured correctly before the tractor started, the last round will plow the land next to the fence on all sides.

Disabled Men are Aided.

Educational institutions have altered their courses to suit the desires of disabled soldiers applying for entrance. Non-collegiate courses are being offered, in order to meet the requirements of students without sufficient preparation for work of regular college grade. Entire new subjects have been introduced into the curriculum. One State College is providing training for camp cooks which in that particular locality offers good openings, as the demand is large and the pay good.

State legislatures have made appropriations sufficiently large to cover all expenses of tuition and other fees of disabled service men.

Employers advertise for the services of discharged disabled men, not with the idea of exploitation, but because of their enlarged vision and broader experiences gained through their service—makes them satisfactory employers.

Workers in the various industrial and commercial establishments in which disabled men have been placed have almost universally welcomed the opportunity of assisting them by kindness and consideration in their efforts to retrain and reestablish themselves in the work they have undertaken, as self-reliant, independent, self-respecting American citizens.

Reciprocal.

The treaty which we have signed with France imposes upon us the duty of sending another A. E. F. to Europe if Germany begins again to fortify the Rhine valley, or to take other steps of an aggressive nature.

The British are likewise bound to send another B. E. F. to France under the same conditions. All three of us are signatories to the treaty.

Now it would seem at first that the treaty is a little onesided.

The French and British do not bind themselves to lend us an army and fleet if we are attacked by Mexico or Japan.

And, as a consequence, a number of critics are complaining that we have again been victimized.

But the one-sidedness of the treaty is only apparent. It may grieve a number of us to see this country assuming any of the obligations implied in a foreing alliance. Perhaps they are right. Any treaty at all may be bad policy for the United States. But that does not make this treaty unfair.

France is compelled to maintain a stupendous army to overawe German military ambition, and the resulting financial burden presses heavily on her economic strength.

She is forever on guard—and as Germany has a score to settle with us as well as with her, this is fortunate for ourselves. Here is where France reciprocates.

Great Britain also. It is well for us that England can pay for a navy which will prevent the Germans from sending warships to sea, and incidentally to our own coasts.

If Britain and France can pay the cost of eternal vigilance, we can hardly call the treaty one-sided. Wilson and Lansing probably had a few of these facts in mind when they signed it.

If, as some think, America is to eventually take over the administration of affairs in Turkey, we suggest Messrs. Dempsey and Willard as

He was of most high rank in the church but was not of fair round belly with good capon lined. To the contrary he was scrawny; painfully so. A prominent family elected to entertain the Cardinal. Their Irish butler, who was to officiate, was nursing a severe attack of flu. The caterer in charge of the banquet had an ex-vaudville negro actor among the waiters. The negro was slated to announce the incoming guests at the drawing room door of the host's spacious mansion. Aided and abetted by a son of the host, who whispered in his ear names and titles of guests, the negro managed to do splendidly with the lesser lights. When the Cardinal entered there was some excitement and the son whispered: "Now his eminence the Cardinal." The darkey, somewhat flustered and seeing a rather starved looking dignitary, roared: "His remnants, de Cardinal."

TWO SISTERS LIVE HERE

Several relatives and friends of this county attended the funeral services this afternoon of the late Lundy Hurst, at his late residence in Shelbyville.

Mr. Hurst was a descendant in the line of pioneers who first settled Rush and Shelby counties. He was a grandson of the Rev. Landy Hurst, who was donor of the Hurst cemetery in Rush county and who was one of the first residents of this section. Mr. Hurst was born in Rush county, Sept. 5, 1837, the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Emmons Hurst of Rushville. At his death he was aged eighty-one years, ten months and eight days and was one of the most respected residents of Shelbyville. His father was a prominent Baptist minister and his mother was the late Nancy Hillgoss Hurst, sister of the late George Hillgoss.

Surviving him are his widow, two sons, Charles F. Hurst of Indianapolis and Elmer Hurst of Shelbyville, one daughter and three sisters namely, Mrs. Robert Smith of Shelbyville; Mrs. Margaret Odell of Homer; Mrs. Margaret Gardner of Rushville and Mrs. Jane Westerfield of Anderson.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keen mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

FASCINATING TEETH

How Every Woman Can Quickly Charm Her Friends With Lovely Teeth, Clean, White and Brilliant

If you want the cleanest of white teeth and healthy gums free from disease, an easy and quick way to get both is to use a tooth paste so effective and perfect that astonishing results usually come in a week's time.

And the cost is so little. Just go to any drug or department store, and get a large tube of SENRECO TOOTH PASTE for 35 cents.

Not only will it make your teeth clean and white, but it will at once remove any filmy coating, help to check the ravages of Pyorrhea and banish acidity in the mouth.

It is used by thousands of dentists and its sale has been remarkable. When you visit your dentist, which you should do at least twice a year, ask him about SENRECO. It's a most delightful and refreshing tooth paste.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upon the system in the use, which did not tell that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. It was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further.

Dowagiac Steerable One-Horse Disc

The front wheel is a caster wheel permitting a short turn without lifting the drill and making steering between crooked rows easy.

The feeds are chain-driven from the axle of the two rear wheels which have ratchet hubs making both wheels drivers.

The Dowagiac five disc is self-guiding. It trails so perfectly that when the horse is driven midway between the corn rows the driver need not touch the handles and at the ends of rows the drill follows the horse in making the short turn. Each disc has independent up and down motion with spring pressure—the only way for uniform depth on uneven ground. With the convenient lever all discs are lifted when turning or transporting the drill to and from the field.

Bad Sicknes Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid-stomach—of the many kinds of sickness and misery it causes—of the loss it literally causes the world over against which they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach—pains of indigestion, distressing, painful bloat; sour, gassy stomach; belching; food repeating, heartburn etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way, if it is strong enough in pain, you are right. If you don't, serious consequences are almost sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, auto-intoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, sometimes even catarrh of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and fever. If you feel these symptoms, if it is strong enough that is the cause of your ill health. Take EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy. EATONIC Tablets quickly and surely relieve the pain, bloat, belching, and heartburn that indicate acid-stomach. Make the stomach strong, clean and sweet. By keeping the stomach in condition, you can draw full strength from your food, your general health steadily improves. Results are marvelously quick. Just try EATONIC and you will be as enthusiastic as the thousands who have used it and who say they never dreamed anything could bring such marvelous relief.

So get a big bottle of EATONIC today. It is not satisfactory to return it and we will refund your money.

FOOTWEAR RISES RAPIDLY IN PRICE

Is Due Entirely to the Excited and Rising Hide Market, Wholesale Dealers Announce

IS NO SURPLUS OF HIDES

Consumers Are Now Buying Shoes at Prices That Are Not in Keeping With High Levels

This article deals with a subject that will be of interest though not of a pleasant sort, to every man and woman in Rushville and throughout Rush county.

It is the subject of the price of footwear. Apparently, the people here, in common with all the rest of the country, are soon to pay decidedly higher prices for shoes.

Indianapolis wholesale dealers have announced unusually large advances in prices as quoted from the manufacturer to the jobber, and it is said this advance will be quoted to the retailer and to the consumer.

The recent rapid rise in prices is said to be due entirely to the excited and rising hide market.

Most noticeable among the recent advances are prices for calfskin and patent leather shoes. The former show a gain of $2 a pair during the last six weeks, according to jobbers, and the latter have practically doubled in price during the last two or three months. However, dealers say patent leather shoes are not in strong demand as they are not generally worn and the high prices will not be generally felt.

One Indianapolis jobber, who had only recently returned from a visit to eastern markets, says there is great difficulty in buying shoes because of the uncertainties of the hide and leather market. It is said manufacturers are selling shoes only in quantities to conform with available supplies of leather and that deliveries are exceedingly slow.

Shoe buyers visiting the large markets in the east have been told that there is no surplus of hides and leather, that demand is far in excess of supply and that apparently there is no relief in sight in respect to more adequate supplies. The scarcity of leather is reported to be due wholly to the exceedingly heavy foreign demand. It is said all parts of the world are heavy buyers of leather goods but that immense quantities of shoes and leather goods are moving to Europe, especially those countries that were engaged in the war.

It is said consumers are now buying shoes at prices that are not in keeping with the high levels quoted in the leather market and consumers are able to buy at present prices because the shoes were manufactured at a time when leather prices were lower. Within three or four months, it is said, shoe prices will feel the effect of the new advances in leather prices. Retailers are selling shoes at present, it is reported, at prices they know do not represent the present cost of manufacture and only a material change in the leather market will prevent much higher rates to the consumer.

LABOR UNIONS ARE INTERESTED IN TRIAL

John C. Taylor, Former Socialist
Candidate, Goes on Trial For Law Violation.

UNION'S LIFE IS AT STAKE

Oakland, Calif., July 15—Union labor throughout the entire west is watching the trial of John C. Taylor, former socialist candidate for mayor, scheduled to start today. Unions contend the very reason for organized labor's existence is at stake.
Taylor was arrested with a score of others by Oakland police, charged with violating the new state criminal syndicalism measure.

The measure was designed to make membership in, or activities of radical organizations a crime. Governor Stephens requested such a measure to combat alleged I. W. W. sabotage and other activities. Union labor fought the measure on the ground that under its terms, members of a union in a peaceful strike could be termed violators of the act. Unions are determined to make a thorough test of the case in the Taylor trial. Already there is talk throughout the state of a referendum against the measure.

This is the first step toward the new Hoosier network of roadways which is scheduled to cover the state, connecting the county seats and resulting in the improvement of main market highways.

The roads on which bids were to be opened were:

Niles road, north from South
Bend 4.68 miles.

Madison road, Indianapolis to Greenwood 7.3 miles.

National road, Cambridge city to Centerville, 1.5 miles.

National road near Putman-Hendricks county line, 8.12 miles.

National road from Indianapolis to Hendrick county line, 6.11 miles.
Range line, from north of Broad Ripple to Carmel, 5.76 miles.

Lincoln Highway from Oscoda to Elkhart, 2.46 miles.

CANNING COMPOUNDS HARMFUL TO HEALTH

Specialists of Bureau of Chemistry Say They Should Never Be Used By the Housewife.

DRUG ACT PROHIBITS USE.

Washington, July 15—Canning compounds sold under various trade names for use in home canning are often harmful to health and should never be used by housewives, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. These preparations, which are usually in powdered form and contain salicylic acid or boric acid, are unnecessary since fruits and vegetables can be kept for long periods in perfect condition without any chemical preservations whatever if proper methods of canning are followed.

The Federal Food and Drug Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods which come within its jurisdiction. The food laws of nearly every State in the Union forbid the sale within the State of foods which have been preserved with harmful substances. Although neither the Federal or State laws apply to foods canned in the home and consumed there, it would seem that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she preserves for her family, substances that are prohibited by law in foods for sale because the substances are injurious to health.

The Department of Agriculture has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

With the exception of the two years in the army, where he served as a lieutenant, Mr. Raber has been in Harvard, teaching part of the time and preparing for a Pr. Though Wilson's Name Carries Weight With Russians It Is Not Popular With Bolshevik Leaders

DIPLOMATIC IN ATTITUDE.

They Frankly Admit They Hope For Recognition and Help from America.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

New York, July 15.—Though President Wilson's name carries great weight with the masses of Russia, it is not a synonym for popularity with the bolsheviks expect nothing, usually come to the conclusion that the President is a "dangerous man".

The bolshevik leaders do not say much regarding Wilson, and are very diplomatic in their attitude toward him. They frankly admit this is because they hope for recognition and help from America. Their hopes are growing fainter, but have not been given up. From other nations the bolsheviks expect nothing, unless a world revolution comes.

The attitude of the ordinary Russian, if he can read, is quite different. An incident which occurred to the United Press correspondent as he came through the German-Russian front in Lithuania illustrates the general impression regarding Wilson.

The correspondent was exchanged in the middle of No-Man's-Land by the Germans for two hundred prisoners which the bolsheviks were returning to Germany. To the dismay of the German officers, fifty of the prisoners were entirely new citizens for the Fatherland—they were pretty Russian wives the German soldiers had acquired in Russia.

While this bevy of prisoners was being escorted to the German front by the bolsheviks, the correspondent sat in the drosky of an old Lithuanian, whose wagon had been taken from the procession in exchange for the one from the White side of the line which the correspondent had brought out.

The old Lithuanian was a shrewd old character, who had learned German during the invasion in the days of Brest-Litovsk. When asked if he were a bolshevik himself, he studied the correspondent carefully, and finally said "You're the representative of President Wilson, aren't you?"

"Who told you that?"

"I heard the Germans tell the bolshevik leaders that!"

"Well, the Germans told them wrong. I'm an American, but that's all."

"It's all the same", insisted the old Lithuanian driver, "I can trust you, and tell you what I think. No, I'm not a bolshevik at heart, I have to be for the present, because they'd take my horse and wagon, if I were not. It's business, just like everyone else is doing."

Later the old Lithuanian passed the word to my guard that here was someone from President Wilson's land. The word went along from guard to guard, until the arrival in Moscow, and always the name of Wilson was used with considerable impression to everyone.

In Moscow, however, foreigners are not welcome. In spite of the invitation he had received in Berlin to go to Moscow and see for himself the Utopia of the bolsheviks, the United Press correspondent, once arrived there, was assured he was extremely unwelcome.

The bolshevik police chief, to whom the correspondent was first taken, was puzzled to know what to do with a foreigner who had slipped in to Moscow through the back door—the Lithuanian front. He finally "passed the buck" to the foreign office, and the correspondent was allowed to stay a week before he was put out.

Before he left, however, a manifesto was passed by the foreign office and the military authorities jointly that no more foreigners are to be allowed to enter Russia until peace is made with the rest of the world. Correspondents are to be stopped at the border, said the proclamation. If any slip in, they are to be arrested and either jailed or thrown out.

CLASH IN LEAGUE FIGHT APPROACHES

President is Expected to Refuse Confidential Data on Deliberations of Peace Body

A RESOLUTION ASKS FOR IT

Correspondence Discloses Allies Pledged Themselves to Help Japan Dismember China

(By United Press)

Washington, July 15.—The senate fight over the league of nations and the peace treaty increased in bitterness today and was hotly waged.

Senator Norris attacked the Shantung settlement feature of the treaty. Senator Underwood came out flatly in support of the league.

A direct clash between President Wilson and the senate is rapidly approaching, in the opinion of many senators. They expect this clash to come over the question of giving the senate a record of the secret deliberations of the peace conference.

Developments include:

Passage by the foreign relations committee of the Johnson resolution requesting information on all confidential data regarding the league of nations debate and negotiations in Paris.

Disclosure to the senate by Senator Norris of correspondence between Japan and the allies pledging the latter aid in the dismembering of China.

It is virtually announced that President Wilson is unwilling to submit to examination by the foreign relations committee in the senate and that if the committee wishes to question him, they must call at the White House.

Though Johnson's resolution passed unanimously, democrats stated that they expected President Wilson to decline to give the committee the mass of reports of debates, copies of the league of nations, draft report and arguments which it called for. Impossibility of complying with the request, senators predicted, will be the president's ground for refusal.

Foreseeing complete victory for President Wilson in the senate, some of the league opponents were discussing plans to make withdrawal from the league by the United

MAY ACT ON TAIL LIGHT LAW

Council May Have Resolution to "Forget" Part of It

The city council meets tonight, it being their regular meeting night. There is no business of importance scheduled to come up, but it was reported around that a resolution would be presented to "forget" that part of the state law pertaining to tail lights being lighted on machines, while parked in the business district of the city. A special meeting of the council is called for next Wednesday, at which time bids will be received for furnishing electric power for the city of Rushville, to relieve the burden at the plant.

TRADE RESTRICTIONS WITH GERMANY LIFTED

War Trade Section of State Department Issues Blanket Licenses Permitting Business

THREE EXCEPTIONS ARE MADE

(By United Press)

Washington, July 15.—Practically all restrictions of trade with Germany were lifted today by American exporters for the first time in two years.

In an order effective today the war trade section of the state department issued a blanket license permitting communication and trade with Germany under the trade with the enemy act in all lines but dye-stuffs, chemicals and potash.

Exports have been forbidden for months on account of the ban on trade with Germany.

This order does not mean individual licenses but it exists under the same conditions as they did before the war—by filing declarations with the custom collector at the board of exit from the United States.

JUDGE SPARKS ORDERS SPECIAL PANEL OF 50

Announces He Will Excuse From Jury Service in Haag Case Farmers Who Are Busy With Crops

CONTINUANCE NOT DESIRED

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15.—With a second special panel of veniremen in the criminal court room, efforts were resumed today to obtain a jury for the trial of Louis E. Haag and Julius A. Haag on the charge of operating a "blind tiger." The usual procedure of sending the sheriff and his deputies to summon "pick-up" veniremen on the streets after a special panel had been exhausted, was not followed when the last man of the original panel of sixty had been called Monday afternoon. Attorneys for the defense objected to this method, and demanded the drawing of a second special venire in the regular way.

The prosecutor invited the attention of Judge Will M. Sparks, special judge at the trial, to the alleged irregularities in the filling of the county jury box with more than 300 additional names shortly before the beginning of the second trial of the Haags on the charge of perjury, despite the fact that more than 600 names already were in the box. He explained that the box since had been emptied and refilled in the proper manner.

Judge Sparks said he would continue to follow the policy of excusing from jury service all farmers whose wheat and oats crops required their immediate attention. He said he was willing to stop the selection of the jury and continue the trial until September. Attorney

Mrs. Cora B. Woods Says Her Husband is Infatuated with Stella Balbridge

FILES DIVORCE COMPLAINT

Asks That Husband be Restrained From Coming Near Her or Their 3-Year-Old Child.

The eternal triangle crept into the divorce complaint filed yesterday afternoon by Cora B. Woods against Joseph N. Woods. According to the complaint which was filed by John A. Titsworth, they were married October 5th, 1912 and separated July 14, this year.

There was one child born, James L. Woods, aged 3, and Mrs. Woods is asking for $300 alimony, with $10 a week for support money of herself and child, during the pendency of the case, and a reasonable amount for the support of the child after divorce.

Mrs. Woods alleges in the complaint that her husband has become infatuated with a married woman named Stella Balbridge of Arlington and has made public his intentions to her and talked about his affections, and has been cold and indifferent towards the plaintiff.

She also states in the complaint that her husband is a man of violent temper and when things did not go to suit him, he flew into violent rage and cursed her and called her many vile names. She further says that he is a motorman and conductor on the I. & C. traction line and capable of making good wages, but has allowed her only money with which to buy common, every day necessities.

Mrs. Woods also asks the court for a restraining order to keep him from calling at her residence, 409 North Harrison street. John A. Titsworth represents Mrs. Woods.

GENERAL PERSHING AND STAFF IN LONDON

American Commander Accorded a Royal Welcome Upon His Arrival at British Capital Today

INSPECTS GUARD OF HONOR

(By United Press)

London, July 15.—General Pershing and his staff arrived here from Dover at 12:38 p. m. today for the peace celebration.

Dense crowds flocked the Victoria station when the special train carrying General Pershing arrived. The guard of honor composed of Welsh guards, General Fielding, War Minister Lord Churchill, representatives of Field Marshal Haig and chief of the general staff formed parts of the British welcoming contingent.

Practically all of the American colonies joined in the greeting.

As Pershing's train pulled into the Royal platform, silken colors dipped and the bands played the Star Spangled Banner.

After Churchill had shaken hands with the American commander a number of presentations followed. Pershing inspected the guard of honor and was then conveyed to the Carlton hotel where the American officers will make their headquarters.

R. F. CONOVER IS DEAD AT MARION

Former Rushville Man Expires at The Age of Eighty Years of Hardening of Arteries

FUNERAL TO BE WEDNESDAY

Served With Distinction During Civil War—Local Veterans Say He Was a Good Soldier

Robert F. Conover, Sr., age eighty years, veteran of the civil war and former Rushville man, died at his home in Marion, Ind., yesterday, of hardening of the arteries, after a prolonged illness, and the funeral services will be held at the national military home at Marion tomorrow afternoon, with burial in the home cemetery.

His death had been expected for several days and several of his children were at his bedside when the end came. Robert Conover, Jr., of this city, had been with his father for more than a week preceding his death.

Mr. Conover taught school in Rush county after the war ended and was twice elected county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Conover was born at Jenner's Crossing, Pa., in 1839. He went to Greensburg, Ind., with his family when 3 years old, and lived there until 1856. In that year he was married to Mary E. S. Campbell, daughter of Elder George A. Campbell, a pioneer minister of the Christian church, and went to Rushville to reside, later going to Illinois, Oklahoma and South Dakota. In the last year he went to Marion to reside.

Mr. Conover in 1861 enlisted in the 7th Indiana regiment and was in the West Virginia campaign. He was next in the service in Kentucky, being a captain, where he organized and drilled troops. Then served to the end of the war with 13th Infantry, with the rank of first lieutenant. He was a member of the G. A. R. of which the commander-in-chief honored him with the title of major.

Commenting on the death of Mr. Conover today, Dan Kinney, civil war veteran and close friend of the deceased, said that Mr. Conover

Washington, July 15.—Two officers and six men of the United States Trawler Richard Buckley were killed when it was sunk by a mine they were trying to sweep up in the North Sea off the coast of England, Saturday, Admiral Knapp reported to the navy department today.

Two officers were slightly injured but escaped with sixteen other men. The dead include Engineman Floyd Harmen, Roanoke, Ind. The trawler sank in seven minutes.

GOBBLER "MOTHERS" A NEST OF GOOSE EGGS

J. Hooker Wilson Has Gentlemanly Turkey Which Equals His Famous Hen, "Prudence"

HE CAN'T BE DRIVEN OFF

Last fall, when J. Hooker Wilson wanted an egg for his supper, he'd just go out and open the back door of his house, and Prudence, his favorite old hen, would walk in, hop upon a chair in the kitchen and presto, there'd be a nice, honest-to-goodness egg, lying right there in the chair. What's more, Prudence wouldn't lay an egg any place else but in that chair.

But now comes a gentlemanly turkey, Chauncey, who is "mothering" eleven goose eggs. Yes, sir, this turkey is setting on those eggs, and if you don't believe it, go up to J. Hooker's corn crib and try to drive him off. In a few days Chauncey is going to be mother of some very cute little goslings, and when the neighbors hear the gobbler a gobbling, then it's time to pay them a visit.

Mr. Conover in 1861 enlisted in the 7th Indiana regiment and was in the West Virginia campaign. He was next in the service in Kentucky, being a captain, where he organized and drilled troops. Then served to the end of the war with 13th Infantry, with the rank of first lieutenant. He was a member of the G. A. R. of which the commander-in-chief honored him with the title of major.

WORK STARTED ON A NEW OFFICE BUILDING

Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber Co. Will Erect Kellastone Structure 82½ by 32 Feet

LUMBER SHED IS TORN DOWN

Work has been started on a new office building at the Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber Company, and a new modern structure will take the place of the small frame building now used as an office. The new building will be built in the same location as the present one, and will extend over the place where one of the lumber sheds now stand. It will have a frontage of 82½ feet and will be 32 feet deep.

The building will be of Kellastone and will be two stories high. The front part will be used as an office room, with a sales department for paints, hardware and roofing. The business office will be open, so as to present a good view of the stock.

Workmen are now engaged in tearing down one of the lumber sheds, and have moved the office room out into the street, and actual construction will begin shortly. The estimated cost will be around $10,000.

IS DETERMINED TO GET JEFFREYS

Sheriff Vandivier of Johnson County Writes Chief of Police of Trip, Made to Tennessee.

PRISONERS HAD BEEN FREED.

Says He's Positive One Machine Belongs in Franklin But License Was Farmland Man's.

More light has been thrown on the stolen automobiles which are at large in Tennessee, when Chief Seward received a letter from Sheriff Vandivier of Johnson county, at Franklin, stating that he had just returned from Tennessee, where he went to bring back an automobile which was stolen from Franklin.

The three brothers, Milton, George and Elmer Jeffrey, were held at Watertown, Tenn., and it seems as if the sheriff at Franklin heard about it and make a trip down there, but got there too late, as the sheriff at Watertown, had let the boys go for lack of evidence.

George and Milton Jeffrey were living in Johnson county, at the time they left, and George was working in a garage in that city. It is evident one machine belongs to a Franklin man and the other to John Gartin of this city. The license number which the Franklin machine had was 23757, and belongs to a man named R. A. Watson of Farmdale, Randolph county.

So the mystery surrounding the two machines is thickened. It is positive, however, that one machine is the Gartin machine, but how the Franklin machine got the numbers belonging to a man living up in Randolph county, is not explained. The numbers on the Gartin machine were those belonging to Bill Young, and were stolen from his machine while in the garage at his home here.

The sheriff of Johnson county said in his letter that he wouldn't be satisfied until the three brothers are arrested, and the machines returned. The reward here was placed at $50 for the machine and $50 for the arrest of the men. Nothing new has been heard from the Tennessee officials, and Sheriff Vandivier was going to mail out cards to all parts of Tennessee for officers to be on the lookout for the men.

BECOMING FAMILIAR WITH TAIL LIGHT LAW

That Motorists Pay More Attention to it Disclosed by Fact That Only One Was Before Mayor

AFFIDAVITS TO BE ISSUED.

That motorists are becoming familiar with the new tail light law is evidenced by the fact that only one machine which did not have a tail light lit, was found last night by the police. Howard Stiers appeared this morning and Mayor Irvin gave him the usual lecture, and allowed him to go. Russell Glendenning, who was cited on Saturday night, appeared this morning, and was also allowed to go.

The police were notified this morning to prepare affidavits for the remainder of law violators, who were tagged by the police, during the campaign, and who failed to show up. The police have the license numbers of the machines, and those who have not appeared will be summoned by an affidavit which will most likely result in a fine. When a machine is flagged by the police, the owner of the car is expected to appear, and there are about 15 or 20 persons who have not appeared. After tomorrow the affidavits will be filed.

ASKS FOR COST OF PEACE COMMISSION

Representative Elliott, Congressman From the Sixth District, introduces a Resolution

WANTS ITEMIZED ACCOUNTING

Congressman Richard N. Elliott of Connersville, representative from the Sixth Indiana district of which Rush county is a part, introduced a resolution in the house of representatives yesterday asking for an itemized accounting on the expenses of the peace commission which has been in Paris.

Up until July 1, the expenses of the commission and its employees were paid out of the President's $100,000,000 emergency war fund, but since that time the fund has been nonexistent and expenses have been paid from regular appropriation bills. None of the expenses paid from the President's fund is known to the general public and so far as known no public accounting of itemized expenses is to be issued through the White House.

The Elliott resolution asks for the name, addresses and salaries of all members of the commission and a list of all other expenses, together with a statement of the persons to whom money was paid and the amount paid in each instance.

The resolution was referred to the committee on expenditures in the state department of which Mr. Elliott is chairman.

CHARLES H. REED DIES

Friends here will regret to hear of the death of Charles H. Reed of Greensburg. Mr. Reed was better known here as "Chick" Reed, and was a step-brother to Theodore H. Reed of this city. Funeral services were held this afternoon, and burial made in Greensburg.

HOW CONTEST IS CONDUCTED

According to a bulletin issued by G. I. Christie of the Purdue Agricultural extension department, W. L. Herkless of Rush county was one of the ten in Indiana whose egg production carried away honors for the months of March and April. His eggs were from Barred Rock flocks.

Once every three months, a representative from the poultry division at the university goes to each county to meet with these record keepers and discuss their problems with them. Such meetings are held at the county seat, usually in the county agent's office, and after the records have been gone over, suggestions for better work in the future are made.

Leg Sore

A large number of the country people are suffering from leg soreness, which is a result of the heat and humidity of the summer. This is particularly true in the southern states, where the climate is hot and humid. The best way to prevent leg soreness is to keep the legs cool and dry. This can be done by wearing light clothing, such as shorts and t-shirts, and by avoiding excessive sweating. It is also important to drink plenty of fluids, especially water, to stay hydrated. If leg soreness persists, it is advisable to consult a doctor.

Disabled Men are Aided.

Educational institutions have altered their courses to suit the desires of disabled soldiers applying for entrance. Non-collegiate courses are being offered, in order to meet the requirements of students without sufficient preparation for work of regular college grade. Entire new subjects have been introduced into the curriculum. One State College is providing training for camp cooks which in that particular locality offers good openings, as the demand is large and the pay good.

State legislatures have made appropriations sufficiently large to cover all expenses of tuition and other fees of disabled service men.

Employers advertise for the services of discharged disabled men, not with the idea of exploitation, but because of their enlarged vision and broader experiences gained through their service—makes them satisfactory employers.

Workers in the various industrial and commercial establishments in which disabled men have been placed have almost universally welcomed the opportunity of assisting them by kindness and consideration in their efforts to retrain and reestablish themselves in the work they have undertaken, as self-reliant, independent, self-respecting American citizens.

The treaty which we have signed with France imposes upon us the duty of sending another A. E. F. to Europe if Germany begins again to fortify the Rhine valley, or to take other steps of an aggressive nature.

The British are likewise bound to send another B. E. F. to France under the same conditions. All three of us are signatories to the treaty.

Now it would seem at first that the treaty is a little one-sided. The French and British do not bind themselves to lend us an army and fleet if we are attacked by Mexico or Japan. And, as a consequence, a number of critics are complaining that we have again been victimized.

But the one-sidedness of the treaty is only apparent. It may grieve a number of us to see this country assuming any of the obligations implied in a foreign alliance. Perhaps they are right. Any treaty at all may be had policy for the United States. But that does not make this treaty unfair.

France is compelled to maintain a stupendous army to overawe German military ambition, and the resulting financial burden presses heavily on her economic strength.

She is forever on guard—and as Germany has a score to settle with us as well as with her, this is fortunate for ourselves. Here is where France reciprocates.

Great Britain also. It is well for us that England can pay for a navy which will prevent the Germans from sending warships to sea, and incidentally to our own coasts.

If Britain and France can pay the cost of eternal vigilance, we can hardly call the treaty one-sided. Wilson and Lansing probably had a few of these facts in mind when they signed it.

He was of most high rank in the church but was not of fair round belly with good capon lined. To the contrary he was scrawny; painfully so. A prominent family elected to entertain the Cardinal. Their Irish butler, who was to officiate, was nursing a severe attack of flu. The caterer in charge of the banquet had an ex-vaudeville negro actor among the waiters. The negro was slated to announce the incoming guests at the drawing room door of the host's spacious mansion. Aided and abetted by a son of the host, who whispered in his ear names and titles of guests, the negro managed to do splendidly with the lesser lights. When the Cardinal entered there was some excitement and the son whispered: "Now his eminence the Cardinal." The darky, somewhat flushed and seeing a rather starved looking dignitary, roared:

"His remnants, de Cardinal."

FORMER CLERK IS TRIED

C. Cecil B. Collins to Answer to Charge of Embezzlement

(By United Press.)

Shelbyville, Ind., July 15.—Cecil B. Collins, formerly clerk of Shelby county, was to go on trial here today on a charge of embezzeling money from the county while in that position. The charges are contained in a grand jury indictment of long standing. It was postponed from March to today because Collins' father was critically ill at that time.

The accused man is now in the oil business in Texas. At the expiration of his term as county clerk, he left this city and his family. Later his family joined him in Texas, where he made a financial success in the oil business.

The first half of "Daddy Long Legs" is filled with the doings of the little parentless children, clad in stripes, like as many little criminals and fed upon soup and prunes.

They are seen at work, and at the machine-like play prescribed for them: covering before the matron and the more eroded of the trustees: always hungering for the love and attention which is denied them; occasionally, as every child must, "acting naughty."

One of the most humorous bits is that in which Judy and a freckle-faced little boy decide to lead the orphans in a "prune strike." Outwitted by the matron they are driven into the yard without food. They find a jug of hard cider and some sandwiches which, innocently enough they consume, whereupon they both become gay, and get into all sorts of mischief.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Broad Ripple, Indiana, and selling a valuable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels but that their action was too violent and too sudden. The result of the use of these was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the intestinal system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Lewis' Remedy, which I truly believe goes further.

Dowagiac Steerable One-Horse Disc

The front wheel is a caster wheel permitting a short turn without lifting the drill and making steering between crooked rows easy.

The feeds are chain-driven from the axle of the two rear wheels which have ratchet hubs making both wheels drivers.

The Dowagiac five disc is self-guiding. It trails so perfectly that when the horse is driven midway between the corn rows the driver need not touch the handles and at the ends of rows the drill follows the horse in making the short turn. Each disc has independent up and down motion with spring pressure—the only way for uniform depth on uneven ground. With the convenient lever all discs are lifted when turning or transporting the drill to and from the field.

Consumers Are Now Buying Shoes at Prices That Are Not in Keeping With High Levels

This article deals with a subject that will be of interest though not of a pleasant sort, to every man and woman in Rushville and throughout Rush county.

It is the subject of the price of footwear. Apparently, the people here, in common with all the rest of the country, are soon to pay decidedly higher prices for shoes.

Indianapolis wholesale dealers have announced unusually large advances in prices as quoted from the manufacturer, to the jobber, and it is said this advance will be quoted to the retailer and to the consumer. The recent rapid rise in prices is said to be due entirely to the excited and rising hide market.

Most noticeable among the recent advances are prices for calfskin and patent leather shoes. The former show a gain of $2 a pair during the last six weeks, according to jobbers, and the latter have practically doubled in price during the last two or three months. However, dealers say patent leather shoes are not in strong demand as they are not generally worn and the high prices will not be generally felt.

One Indianapolis jobber, who had only recently returned from a visit to eastern markets, says there is great difficulty in buying shoes because of the uncertainties of the hide and leather market. It is said manufacturers are selling shoes only in quantities to conform with available supplies of leather and that deliveries are exceedingly slow.

Shoe buyers visiting the large markets in the east have been told that there is no surplus of hides and leather, that demand is far in excess of supply and that apparently there is no relief in sight in respect to more adequate supplies. The scarcity of leather is reported to be due wholly to the exceedingly heavy foreign demand. It is said all parts of the world are heavy buyers of leather goods but that immense quantities of shoes and leather goods are moving to Europe, especially those countries that were engaged in the war.

It is said consumers are now buying shoes at prices that are not in keeping with the high levels quoted in the leather market and consumers are able to buy at present prices because the shoes were manufactured at a time when leather prices were lower. Within three or four months, it is said, shoe prices will feel the effect of the new advances in leather prices. Retailers are selling shoes at present, it is reported, at prices they know do not represent the present cost of manufacture and only a material change in the leather market will prevent much higher rates to the consumer.

CANNING COMPOUNDS HARMFUL TO HEALTH

Specialists of Bureau of Chemistry Say They Should Never Be Used By the Housewife.

DRUG ACT PROHIBITS USE.

Washington, July 15—Canning compounds sold under various trade names for use in home canning are often harmful to health and should never be used by housewives, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. These preparations, which are usually in powdered form and contain salicylic acid or boric acid, are unnecessary since fruits and vegetables can be kept for long periods in perfect condition without any chemical preservations whatever if proper methods of canning are followed.

The Federal Food and Drug Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods which come within its jurisdiction. The food laws of nearly every State in the Union forbid the sale within the State of foods which have been preserved with harmful substances. Although neither the Federal or State laws apply to foods canned in the home and consumed there, it would seem that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she preserves for her family, substances that are prohibited by law in foods for sale because the substances are injurious to health.

The Department of Agriculture has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

THINK PRESIDENT IS DANGEROUS MAN

Though Wilson's Name Carries Weight With Russians It is Not Popular With Bolshevik Leaders

DIPLOMATIC IN ATTITUDE.

They Frankly Admit They Hope For Recognition and Help from America.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
New York, July 15.—Though President Wilson's name carries great weight with the masses of Russia, it is not a synonym for popularity with the Bolsheviks expect nothing, usually come to the conclusion that the President is a "dangerous man".

The Bolshevik leaders do not say much regarding Wilson, and are very diplomatic in their attitude toward him. They frankly admit this is because they hope for recognition and help from America. Their hopes are growing fainter, but have not been given up. From other nations the Bolsheviks expect nothing, unless a world revolution comes.

The attitude of the ordinary Russian, if he can read, is quite different. An incident which occurred to the United Press correspondent as he came through the German-Russian front in Lithuania illustrates the general impression regarding Wilson.

The correspondent was exchanged in the middle of No-Man's-Land by the Germans for two hundred prisoners which the Bolsheviks were returning to Germany. To the dismay of the German officers, fifty of the prisoners were entirely new citizens to the Fatherland—they were pretty Russian wives the German soldiers had acquired in Russia.

While this bevy of prisoners was being escorted to the German front by the Bolsheviks, the correspondent sat in the drosky of an old Lithuanian, whose wagon had been taken from the procession in exchange for the one from the White side of the line which the correspondent had brought out.

The old Lithuanian was a shrewd old character, who had learned German during the invasion in the days of Brest-Litovsk. When asked if he were a Bolshevik himself, he studied the correspondent carefully, and finally said "You're the representative of President Wilson, aren't you?"

"Who told you that?"

"I heard the Germans tell the Bolshevik leaders that."

"Well, the Germans told them wrong. I'm an American, but that's all."

"It's all the same," insisted the old Lithuanian driver, "I can trust you, and tell you what I think. No, I'm not a Bolshevik at heart. I have to be for the present, because they'd take my horse and wagon, if I were not. It's business, just like everyone else is doing."

Later the old Lithuanian passed the word to my guard that here was someone from President Wilson's land. The word went along from guard to guard, until the arrival in Moscow, and always the name of Wilson was used with considerable impression to everyone.

In Moscow, however, foreigners are not welcome. In spite of the invitation he had received in Berlin to go to Moscow and see for himself the Utopia of the Bolsheviks, the United Press correspondent, once arrived there, was assured he was extremely unwelcome.

The Bolshevik police chief, to whom the correspondent was first taken, was puzzled to know what to do with a foreigner who had slipped in to Moscow through the back door—the Lithuanian front. He finally "passed the buck" to the foreign office, and the correspondent was allowed to stay a week before he was put out.

Before he left, however, a manifesto was passed by the foreign office and the military authorities jointly that no more foreigners are to be allowed to enter Russia until peace is made with the rest of the world. Correspondents are to be stopped at the border, said the proclamation. If any slip in, they are to be arrested and either jailed or thrown out.
